

Myrna Lichter | MD, FRCSC

Dr. Myrna Lichter was born in Winnipeg, Manitoba and received her undergraduate degree and medical degrees there. She came to Toronto to do her Ophthalmology training at University of Toronto. She continued with fellowship training in Washington, DC at Armed Forces Institute of Pathology under the famous Dr. Lorenz Zimmerman and Dr. Ian McLean.

On returning to Toronto, Dr. Lichter practiced general ophthalmology and is on staff at St. Michael's Hospital in Toronto. Her interests are eclectic – at St Michael's Hospital, she has the HIV clinic, has an interest in Low Vision and a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching at the University of Toronto.
